A CENTURY OF HISTORY ON THE RIVER

Historic Inn Celebrates an Important Milestone in 2008

OSCEOLA, WI, September, 2007—Originally known as the Stoneleigh, this home built of limestone was constructed on the bluff of the St. Croix River in 1908. With the help of architects and contractors, the personal residence was carefully transformed into the St. Croix River Inn and opened its doors to the public in 1984. Now, 100 years after the first stone was placed, we are excited to celebrate this momentous anniversary of a home which has served as a bedrock within the St. Croix Valley.

Under new ownership in 2002, the St. Croix River Inn has become a magnificent fusion of history and luxury. Here, nature's splendor offers a relaxing respite from the pressures of everyday living. Guests can partake in the many local outdoor activities or simply enjoy the peace and tranquility of their accommodations.

For the ultimate luxury getaway, reserve the newly opened Cascade Suite featuring an amazing tub-side waterfall, multi-jetted shower, and priceless views. Delight in the spa quality bath products and elegant bathrobes available in all guest rooms. Awaken refreshed and savor the flavors of a gourmet breakfast served privately to your room.

Our staff takes pleasure and pride in providing warm, gracious hospitality and the finest personal service. The St. Croix River Inn is a jewel of an inn, a place to experience TIMELESS LUXURY ON THE RIVER.
